

ACT INDEXATION BENEFIT GUIDE

The Workers Compensation Act 1951 (WC Act) allows for indexation of benefits such as adjustment of wages to weekly compensation, permanent impairment, death, medical treatment, damages and other costs, according to changes in the cost of living or another economic indicator, especially to compensate for inflation.

Weekly compensation, for a worker means the worker's average pre-incapacity weekly earnings less the average weekly amount that a worker is being paid for working or could earn in reasonably available employment. Entitlements to weekly compensation are likely to change after 26 weeks whether the worker is totally incapacitated or partially incapacitated.
